booms, rails, mines and banks" QUEER FACTS. From all parts of the United States there came to Washington, last week, in gorgeous, gilded, private railway coaches the owners and managers of the great railway lines of the continent. The issue was to be determined between the people and the corpora-tions. The people did not come. They had sent up members of congress to guard their rights and their property. But they themselves came not, neither in person nor by attorney; but the corporations came and in regal splendor. What sums of money and bonds and stocks they brought I have no dor. What sums of money and bonds and stocks they brought I have no means of ascertaining. But the Backbone railway land grant was on trial. Thousands of poor people had settled on these lands. They knew that the railway corporations have acquired no shadow of title to these lands, that the corporations had complied with no single condition precedent or subsequent to the grant as made by congress. The poor people had built their cabins as upon public land, as they had the law and Goddent or subsequent to the grant as made by congress. The poor people had built their cabins as upon public land, as they had the law and God-given right. Nobody had dreamed, until these railroad managers and owners appeared upon the scene, that the house of "representatives of the people" would fail to declare this land palace cars came, and the vote was taken two days after, when there was against the people of nearly fifty. James A. George published a letter from a member of congress, showing how the corporations had used bonds to "Barnumize" and otherwise conds to "Barnumize" and otherwise control members of congress and an in-nocent member of the house moved next day a reconsideration and it was found that the publication of this let-ter changed forty votes. The pub-lisher of the letter, Mr. George, was denounced, meanwhile, on the floor of the house in unmanufed terms, but it the house, in unmeasured terms; but it availed nothing. Few believed that George had done more than publish a treorge had done more than publish a private letter to be justified alone when it may prevent the commission of a crime greater than that involved in this violation of a personal trust and private confidence.

crime greater than that involved in this violation of a personal trust and private confidence.

I need not go into details to show how the railroad representatives on the floor of the house "paired" in order to win, two of these "pairing" with four others. But the senate will hardly, in this case, concur with the house. In any event I hope Democratic senators will act in this, as in other less if grantly wrongful cases, and vote for the people and not for the speculators in the woes and wrongs of the poor.

A telegram, I am told, was read last night in the leading Knights of Labor club of this city in which Hen Butter said, substantially, that we could always rely upon the Democracy in congress to put its foot in it just at the right time, and that most of the party in the house had done the job in refusing to declare the Backbone land grant forfeited. Butler gains all that the party loses and I don't suppose the old fellow is very angry about it.

CANDIDATES FOR THE PRESIDENCY.

The purpose of Blaine to win in the South two or three old Whig states, notably North Carollina, Tennessee and Virginia, through the intervention of Mahone, will make the accession of a Southern Democrat to the ticket of this party eminently proper. Judge Jno. Hancock was born in Jackson county, Als., on the confines of Tennessee. He is and always was a straight Democrat, never having voted any other ticket and always as unswerving Unionist. His approval as a candidate by the press of the South and the universality of Southern assent to his proposed nomination will serve to allay in the minds of the old wearest and Heart of the Delay and the server and Heart of the server. of customs at New Laredo, has been appointed to a like position on the lower Rio Grande and his place here is filled by Senor Barrea, who is gencount of one charging the other with theft of an unmentionable article of apparel. It occurred in the street and was obscene and disgraceful.

Hoar and Sherman and Mahone, as mouth-pieces of the ultra bloody-shirt Republicans, would be slienced and the masses of the North-eru people would resent sectional assaults upon a ticket whose Southern candidate evinced a degree of loyalty sturdier and bolder than that which crowns the fame of Linc-ln. In other words, the ticket would be made with reference to the universality of strength of those placed upon it. TRUEMAN, outh and in the Middle states. Ther TRUBMAN, because Hoadly and Payne are inimical, cannot perhaps carry Ohio, and local elections occur in that state in to the Old Dominion, but Alexandria to the Old Dominion, but Alexandria will give this local Democratic majority. Will not the Republicans, if Virginia's vote determine the result of the presidential election, declare that this vote of Virginia shall not be counted against Biaine? a Would not the party to-day repudiate its action of yesterday and declare that Alexandria, in accordance with the statement of the federal constitution, is still part and parcel of the District of Columbia and not of Virginia? Must we have another electoral commission or a violent conflict, beginning in the capital, to involve thally all the states?

ANOTHER SUPPOSITION. lent conflict, beginning in the capital, to involve thally all the states?

ANOTHER SUPPOSITION.

Again, suppose Ben Butler carry Massachusetts and that Blaine and the Democratic candidate for the presidency have within eight or ten of the same number of electoral votes. The presidential election may be thus thrown into the house where the several states vote as such. Would the Republicans, in the contingency supposed, suffer Virginia's vote to be counted? And if the house must sevent a Democratic victory in October in Ohio, should not uominate Thur man and Hancock. The party would gain in universal strength and honor more than it could lose by local defeat in a local contest and this local defeat would signify nothing because every voter would anticipate and discoun

Five Obstreperous Youths Assessed "for Revenue and Incidental Protection,"

Special to the Gazette. ALVARADO, July 5.—Late yesterday a majority for the corporation and evening five young men, strangers, sgainst the people of nearly fifty. passed through the public square westward, and immediately after turning the corner into Patton street, commenced using loud, vociferous language, and an occasional discharge of their populus was beard by those who ed their misbehavior. The city witness marshal, being at South Alvarado, failed to capture the young scamps, but telephoned to Sheriff Bryde at Cle burne to keep a lookout for and arrest them. That official, on the arrival of the early train from Cleburne this morning, alighted with the five men in custody, and turned them over to our city authorities. After hearing conclusive evidence of their guilt, his that a contribution of $10 each to the missionary box of the city treasury was in order.
